Pete's blog

You're reading my blog, so you know I use the Internet every day. I write emails, I read blogs, I listen to podcasts, I watch TV programmes, I talk to my friends, I play games, and I download music! These things are great. But some people do everything on the Internet. They only email or chat to people online. They don't go out with their friends and do fun things! That's not good! I talk to my cousins in New Zealand using a webcam, but I go out with my friends too.

Some people spend lots of time doing things to put on the Internet. They film concerts, parties, anything. I think it's great that you can see videos of concerts online, but I've never filmed a show – when I go to a concert I want to enjoy the music, not film it! It's easy to spend all your time on your computer, but it's not good for you.
